"Zoning, Like Planning A House"

By WILLARD BOSSERMAN
County Agent

Several townships in Crawford County have just passed zoning ordinances, or are in the process of planning in order to develop a zoning ordinance. Zoning causes some anxiety, but people fully understand that zoning is primarily to protect property values and guide the area's development in a orderly fashion.

Planning the use of land, and zoning it for its appropriate use, is like planning and laying out the space in a home for the best use and convenience of its occupants.

Constructing a home, one part is selected for the living room, another part for the kitchen. Other parts are set aside for sleeping or other uses.

A township or county is a kind of giant house shared by hundreds of thousands of people. Some parts are best planned and used as residence districts. Others serve best for trade or industry. Some lands are wisely left chiefly in farming.

With perhaps a limited number of suburban or nonfarm homes. Some areas may be selected for parks, summer cottages, outdoor sports, hunting, (i. e. the wild land in North Michigan) and other forms of reservation.

Regardless of where you live, you naturally cherish the value of your property. You would like your home, farm, place of business, summer cottage, your undeveloped land, whatever property you own to be as desirable and worth at least as much tomorrow as it is today.

Your fore sighted township officials are interested in protecting your property values by preventing residential areas from being invaded by unwelcome business.

Like wise business will be located in areas where they will not receive complaints from home owners because of late hours, noise or other disturbances, the business might cause.

Zoning ordinances can be amended to prevent hardship cases. Local zoning boards do accept suggestions for amendments and when possible will make amendments.

As the population increases more guide lines for development will be needed.

New Business Is Established In Grayling

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Rowland are pleased to announce the opening on October 1, 1966 of a new business — Rowland's Seamless Coverings. In August they purchased the franchise from Torginol Industries to be the dealers in this area for seamless walls and floors of Torginol. Soon after the purchase was completed Harvey and Jack LaBarge spent four days in Chicago learning how to apply the Torginol to floors and walls. The floors are scuff-proof, never need waxing, have a fine gloss and yet are not slippery. They require a minimum of care and the only up-keep is a new coat of glaze perhaps once every 10 years.

Torginol was discovered and perfected by a German scientist in the 1930's. In 1939, just as the war started, it was installed in an Officer's Club in Germany. It is still being used there. Because of the war, it was delayed until just five years ago from coming to this country. However, it has been readily accepted for use in homes, hospitals, schools and all types of commercial buildings. Its color range is unlimited beginning with 20 basic colors which can be used in any combination. This, along with its durability and low maintenance cost make it suitable for use almost anywhere.

The two attempted to reach shore about 400 yards away through three-foot waves, but the boy slipped under. His body was recovered later in ten feet of water by Sheriff Art Clough and Deputy Mike Lapka.

Manistee River Poison Project Carried Out

The plans of the Fish Division, Conservation Department to poison 60 miles of the Manistee River in Crawford and Kalkaska counties was carried out late last week and over the weekend.

The project was started at 10 a. m. last Thursday at Cameron Bridge on County Road 612 west of Frederic, according to Buddy Jacobs, Regional Fish Biologist. The entire project was expected to take about 55 hours to complete down the stream to the M-66 bridge.

Several larger tributaries to the Manistee were also treated to kill off chestnut lamprey eels and rough fish, Jacobs said.

The plan which had been held up due to court action was undertaken on Thursday after the Kalkaska County Circuit Court last Wednesday refused to issue an injunction to halt the poisoning.

The injunction, asked by two northwestern Lower Michigan men, contended the lamprey could have been eliminated with a selective poison which would not harm other fish.

Conservation officials said they hope to eliminate the rough fish in order to restock the stream with trout.

JAYCEES ENTERTAIN FESTIVAL OF COLOR

The Jaycees' share of the Festival of Color was the entertainment of the people in Grayling for the weekend. We entertained them from all sides.

On one end of main street we staged a chain-sawing contest. This drew about 30 entries from all over this section of the state. The Grand Champion of the event was Cliff Helsel from Lake City. Division winners were: Cliff Helsel, Ken Helsel of Grayling, Dave Helsel of Lake City, Tony Hejnal of Lake City, Wilbur Pitz of Pile Lake and Roger Mayhew of Rose City. Our congratulations go out to these men.

On one side of main street we set up an archery booth. Mr. Curtis Marshall, manager of this booth, was not sure who enjoyed this the most, the hundred and some odd persons who shot or the spectators.

On the opposite side of the street was what we feel was the high point of our projects, our Dunk Tank. Well over 300 persons took shots at our clowns, Larry Gust, Jim Hatley and Bill LaMotte. This booth always had a crowd in front of it and laughter was the sound of the two nights.

At the far end of Michigan Avenue a dance was held. The Autumn Swirl was a round and square dance that was enjoyed by all who attended. Square dance calling was furnished by Russ Conors of Alpena while round dancing was by recorded music.

These projects hit the downtown on four sides. We covered the air by having music piped into the downtown section.

When all was said and done the Jaycees feel that their part of this festival was a very huge success.

PASS, PUNT & KICK

Leon D'Amour is awaiting Sunday, October 16th, when at 1:00 in the afternoon the Pass, Punt & Kick Contest will start. A PUMPKIN ON EVERY PORCH

On the 22nd of this month a Jaycee may knock on your door. He will have a couple of pumpkins with him. He will appreciate your buying one. The Jaycee projects, litter barrels in the river, orphan's trip down the river, chain sawing contest and dance have all cost us money. Our funds are exhausted and our projects are curtailed until we raise enough money to start again. PLEASE HELP the Jaycees continue to be the most active organization in town.

We wish to thank the following persons who helped us make the entertainment of last weekend the success that it was: Emil Kraus, Sandy Thompson, Bill LaMotte, Chamber of Commerce, the Rialto Theatre, Ward Taylor and all the persons who enjoyed our booths.

Vikings Lose To Mancelona 14-12; Work Hard for Blue Devil Invasion

The Grayling Vikings, smarting under a 14 to 12 loss to the Mancelona Ironmen last Friday, are this week trying to put back together their defense as they will face the strong, tough Gaylord Blue Devils at home this Friday in the annual Homecoming Game.

Gaylord, who has a conference mark of two wins and a tie, is considered to be one of the favorites for the crown. They boast a real fast and shifty sophomore halfback in Cardinal whose thrusts the Vikings will have to stop.

Last Friday night, the Vikings played a game far from their best while the Ironmen were sky high playing in their homecoming game. Several Grayling players were somewhat under the weather with colds and they also lost the services of both of their regular guards during the game, one ejected for unsportsmanship, the other, Steve LaGrow with sprained

After the kickoff, Grayling forced Mancelona into a punt situation. A bad pass resulted in a blocked kick which Nethers picked up and took 35 yards into the end zone. Again the point was missed but Grayling led 12 to 0.

Grayling wound up with the ball later deep in their territory and a bad snap from center for a punt resulted in the Ironmen getting a safety and the score moved to 12 to 2.

Before the end of the half another bad pass resulted in Mancelona getting the ball at the Viking's one and they punched in a score as the clock ran out. The point after was missed and the halftime score was 12 to 8 with Grayling ahead.

Late in the fourth period, a long pass to the Ironmen's left end who had slipped past his defender resulted in a Mancelona score from about 40 yards out. The point after was missed but Mancelona had the game wrapped up 14 to 12.

In other conference action last Friday, Boyne City remained in front with a 33 to 7 beating of Harbor Springs, Charlevoix held on to second along with Gaylord. The Raiders by stopping Pellston 44 to 12 and the Blue Devils by defeating East Jordan 19 to 7. This Friday besides the game here, Charlevoix is at Boyne City, Mancelona at East Jordan and Pellston at Harbor Springs.

Dave Nethers was the outstanding player for Grayling with 26 tackles and a fumble recovery. Grayling's rushing total 73 yards while passing picked-up but 60.

The Grayling Jaycees kept up their good play turning back the Traverse City St. Francis juniors 27 to 21 here last Thursday night. The little Gladiators took the kickoff and moved deep into Grayling only to be halted. On Grayling's first play they were caught for a safety and were behind 2 to 0.

Mike Smock scored for Grayling after a series of running plays and regained the lead 6 to 2 as the point was missed. Allan Lowe then picked off a Traverse pass

1970 CENSUS AND APPORTIONMENT NEARING

OLD ISSUE

With 1970 coming faster than you realize, comes the national Census and shortly thereafter the required state legislative apportionment.

"Apportionment" became almost a household word in the last ground in Michigan. This was largely to changes in the state Constitution and decisions handed down by the state and U. S. Supreme Courts regarding the one man-one vote principle.

The change in the Constitution provided for an eight-man bipartisan commission, with the members selected by the powers in the two majority political parties.

Even without the precedent-breaking Court decisions, it was clear that Michigan's new apportionment commission system was not designed to be independently effective.

Even with the provision for taking plans to the Supreme Court if agreement did not come from the eight commissioners, flaws in this section of the new Constitution were evident.

There will most assuredly be several ideas proposed for making the post-1970 apportionment work more quickly and smoothly.

One such method has already been put forth. But since the pressure is not yet on for action in this area, it has not been fully considered.

Apportionment would still be a big job under the proposal put forth early this year by a bipartisan group of House members.

Under their plan, each Congressional district would be cut into two nearly equal population districts to elect Michigan's 38-member Senate. Then each of the Senate districts would be divided into three, to provide a 114-member House of Representatives.

Apportionment would start in the legislature with this body setting the boundary lines for the Congressional seats. Then the division of these into Senate districts and those into House districts would revert to an apportionment commission fairly comparable to that currently provided for in the Constitution.

Retaining the bipartisan commission could continue to be a problem despite the fact that initial division of the state would be accomplished before its job begins. Constitutional amendment, requiring a two-thirds vote in both houses and approval by the people, is necessary before this or any other new apportionment method could be used.

Citizen participation in government has been a key phrase in Gov. George Romney's speeches since he first came into the public spotlight.

An example of the usefulness of citizen participation can be readily found in the State Mental Health Department.

This department reports that there are well over 5,000 volunteers actively working in state hospitals for mentally ill and retarded and at community clinics throughout Michigan.

Time spent by these volunteers varies considerably, but it averages nearly 3,000 volunteers providing over 16,000 hours of service each month.

Major contributions of the volunteers can be seen in the form of new chapels at Traverse City and Kalamazoo State Hospitals, and park and recreation areas at Kalamazoo and Lapeer.

These tangible evidences of volunteer efforts represent fundraising and individual financial contributions.

As important, if not more so, is the contribution of time by the volunteers.

Department Director Dr. Robert A. Kimmich notes that the volunteers provide a strong supplement to staff efforts and in many cases give services which the staff is unable to provide.

"Because volunteers are not paid and in most cases are not highly trained, it is possible for them to establish a relationship with patients which is more effective and more personal than is often possible for a paid worker," says Kimmich.

While all the volunteer efforts are important and greatly appreciated by department personnel, Dr. Kimmich reports that perhaps the most important result is the volunteers' impact on the patients served.

"The patients are usually aware that the volunteer is making this effort for no reward other than the benefit he brings to those he serves, and this certainly is the highest motivation of all."

GRAYLING SEABEE AT CHU LAI, VIETNAM

By Phil Jordan

CHU LAI, Viet Nam — In this war-torn country, since mid-August, the men of the Seabees "Fighting 40th" have been working around the clock, battling two implacable foes—the weather and fatigue.

"It's hot or rainy." "The hours are long." "It wouldn't be bad if it weren't for the heat and the work."

These are a few of the comments that are echoed over and over as you filter through the ranks of men who are putting their backs, their minds and their sweat into completing more than three miles of runway and taxiway before the onset of the autumn monsoon rains.

Fronted on the coast of the South China Sea, the men of Mobile Construction Battalion 40 work in 12-hour shifts, often longer, to finish a job that, while not as glamorous perhaps as engaging the Viet Cong in hand to hand combat, has its importance in the conflict.

Viet Cong forces are expected to launch attacks in this area, little more than 100 miles south of the demilitarized zone, under cover of the monsoons. At the same time, prevailing winds are expected to shift, rendering the already existing runway (built more than a year ago for an expected one month's use) unsuitable for use by the Skyhawk fighters of the Marines also stationed here.

Completion of the crosswind runway will give badly needed additional air support to the U. S., Korean and Vietnamese forces who must meet any Viet Cong offensive.

GMG 2 Bill Foster, 25, a gunner's mate, would be the first to admit that the life and pace here bear little resemblance to the solitude of his home at Grayling, Michigan, where his wife, Caridad, and parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Foster, reside.

While he is looking forward to returning home, he also says, "We have a job to do and it must be done"—a sentiment repeated, with different words but unchanged meaning, by his compatriots.

First detachments of the Seabees and Marines stormed ashore at Chu Lai some 18 months ago, expecting to be met by Viet Cong gunfire; instead, they were met by Vietnamese girls carrying bouquets. There wasn't much time to enjoy the blossoms, though, as the Seabees got to work building that "temporary" airstrip, while the Marines set up and gradually enlarged a "safe" perimeter.

The base still lacks sufficient huts for all the men, some of whom live in tents; and all of the men have had to look after themselves, to a considerable degree.

Thus far, Foster and his buddies have laid more than one million square feet of aluminum runway matting and moved some 350,000 cubic yards of dirt.

The 40th is actually undergoing a new lease on life. First organized during World War II, it was disbanded at the end of that conflict. It was reactivated in February 1966, however, and its lead officers selected from already existing Seabee units, from all over the world.

Now the 40th, skippered by Cmdr. Ben L. Saravia, a 38-year-old San Franciscan, occupies a camp between the beach and the sand dunes facing the sea.

The setting could be beautiful, remarks Foster. A constant light sound pounds the beach and the camp's buildings are scattered among the pine trees that grow in the dunes behind the beach. The sails of hundreds of Vietnamese fishing boats dot the horizon.

"But," he says, "the war is never far from our minds."

Just behind and parallel to the dunes is the Marine airstrip. Day and night Foster can hear the roar of jets landing and taking off, with afterburners at full blast. Helicopters, stationed not far to the north, use the skies over the beach as a corridor on their missions. On each side of the ungainly aircraft, a machine gunner scans the ground below for the enemy. The beach itself is backed by rolls of barbed wire, and everywhere in the camps are protective pits and sandbagged defensive positions, while a hospital ship stands off shore.

In addition to the airstrip work, the Seabees of the 40th are, some 25 miles to the south, constructing a camp for a brigade of Korean Marines. Approximately 60 men live at the site, all but cut off except by helicopter.

A bridge across the mouth of the Bong Son River, between the Seabee camp and the site of the Korean camp, has been blown up. A ferry is in operation, but is effective only at high tide.

Back at the main camp at Chu Lai, a moustache-growing contest is underway and there is talk of a contest in marksmanship with Viet Aborigine crossbows, a dozen or more of which, complete with bamboo quivers and palm-leaf-fletched arrows, have been "cumshawed" (traded for) by the Seabees.

There are other forms of relaxation. The perennial puppy, "Sam" (short for Sampan), has become the battalion's mascot, though Petty Officer 3rd Class Tom Cammarata, 21, of Rochester, N. Y., claims legal ownership. In the evening, Foster may take in a movie, or go to the library, or listen to live music.

And even though it's still around the corner, the Seabees are planning for Christmas—they are writing home for toys to be given to Vietnamese children.

By then the monsoons will be in full force, Foster said, and they will have their hands full repairing damage caused by the torrential rains.

But they'll also know by then the number of days left on this cruise. Units usually stay overseas eight months at a time, then head back to home port—in this case, Davisville, R. I., and the Atlantic Fleet—for six months of retraining and, for most of them, leave.

Foster said he won't mind that a bit.

Truth In Legislative Labeling Needed

Fooding the people may be part of the game of politics, but sometimes the pranksters are caught in their own web of deception. There are growing indications that this may be the case with "truth in packaging" legislation now pending in Congress. The proposed truth in packaging law is a falsely-labeled package in itself. The measure, as proposed, would so standardize shapes and sizes as to discourage putting new products on the market. It would hamper special sales which are an economy to the consumer. It would restrict the consumer's freedom of choice in the marketplace under the guise of protecting him. It would permit government regulators to set the rules as to what is "deceptive" and would make it difficult for manufacturers to prove that their packaging and labeling are not deceptive.

The proposed "truth in packaging" law implies that there is no truth in packaging at present. Such an implication is patently dishonest and deceptive. In the free market, a general practice of untruthful labeling would be promptly condemned by consumers. The manufacturer indulging in such a practice would soon be out of business, as consumers took their patronage elsewhere. The truth is that if existing laws were enforced, there would be no opportunity for the political exploitation of the truth in packaging question.

Sleeper Of The Century . . .

A recent issue of Life magazine carried an editorial entitled, "Watch Out for 'Title 19'." Title 19 is a provision of medicare designed to help anybody under the age of 65 who needs medical care but cannot afford it. In the words of Life, this provision "... may turn out to be the medical and fiscal sleeper of the century."

Title 19 provides grants to the states from the federal government ranging from 55 per cent of medical costs in the richer states to 83 per cent in the poorest. Title 19 allows the states to provide care to the medically indigent but is extremely vague as to who are to be considered medically indigent. Two of the first states to qualify for Title 19 aid — Oklahoma and Minnesota — have set amounts ranging from $2,448 to $2,800 as the annual income below which a family is considered medically indigent. New York State, on the other hand, passed a law that established $7,500 annual income and $3,000 in the bank as a minimum needed before a family could undertake to pay its own medical expenses. The New York law immediately qualified 8 million New Yorkers for free medical care — 44 per cent of the population of the state. In some rural counties, the "indigent" would have totaled 80 per cent of the inhabitants. One county welfare director was amazed to find his own family qualified.

Fortunately, the New York law was modified. But, implementing Title 19 of medicare in New York state will cost the federal government nearly a quarter of a billion dollars this year. No one knows what the total bill for Title 19 will be when all the states have submitted their plans, but, it is a certainty that it will run into billions of dollars.

As Life concludes, Congress should rewrite Title 19 to assist in the medical problems of those truly in need "without bankrupting the rest of us."

LOCAL YOUTH MEMBER OF HONORED COMPANY

Dave Englund, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Englund of Grayling and a 1965 Grayling High School graduate is a member of the Detroit Tigers Recruit Company that has achieved what may be the highest goal which may be attained at the Recruit Training Command of the Hall of Fame Award.

This honor has not been captured since August 1965, a 13-month period during which time 847 companies — 75,800 men — have graduated from recruit training at Great Lakes. The last company to achieve this goal took it with 29 flags won in competition. The Detroit Tigers Company has 40.

Flags are tangible proof of excellence in competition during training. They are won in competition with 11 to 200 companies training at the same time.

AOI Ernest Onderik, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Onderik of 18485 Albion St., Detroit, Mich., who began his Navy career in 1952, commanded the Tiger Company. He volunteered to lead the group even before its commissioning July 21. At that time Onderik said he expected Tiger Company to be the best of the nine units he has commanded since arriving at RTC, Great Lakes, nearly two years ago. They proved him right.

The Hall of Fame Award will be put in permanent form for the 87 members of Tiger Company when they each receive an RTC Great Lakes plaque, engraved with their name, company number and the words "Hall of Fame." Onderik's name will be placed on the large Hall of Fame trophy.

Tiger Company will be by far the most conspicuous of the 11 units — graduating Friday. When the company passes in review, it will be led by three flags — the Hall of Fame flag, the flag of the state of Michigan, and the company guidon, a blue square with the company's number 447 in white letters. Next will come the competition flags. The last flag to pass will be the Tiger baseball team pennant, at half-staff. The pennant has been lowered to half-staff since the death of Charlie Driesen, manager of the Detroit Tigers team, Aug. 6.

The competition flags make up the main body of the colorful assortment carried by the Tigers.

There are 12 — all but two adorned with pennants for successive awards.

The competition flags are as follows:

Battalion Efficiency Flag: seven awards. For overall excellence in competition in a given week of training, against 11 other companies.

Battalion Star Flag: eight awards. For excellence in personal appearance, care of clothing and cleanliness of barracks living spaces. Won against 11 other companies.

Battalion Drill Flag: four awards. For greatest proficiency in close order drill, the manual of arms and physical drill under arms. Won against 11 companies.

Battalion "I" Flag: three awards. For highest grades in classroom studies. Against 11 companies.

Regimental Efficiency Flag: three awards. Same as Batt. Efficiency, except that this flag is won in competition against 119 companies.

Brigade Drill: two awards. Same as Batt. and Reg. Drill, against 200 companies.

Athletic Flag: two awards. For superiority in athletic competition.

Same as Batt. "I" against 200.

Citizenship Flag: for excellence in display of qualities of good citizenship. Judged on participation in special entertainment units, church ushers, journalism.

One more flag, the Color Company banner, will mark Tiger Company as the best. This flag is awarded to the top unit at each weekly review.

Brigade "I" Flag: one award.

Same as Batt. "I" against 200.

Citizenship Flag: for excellence in display of qualities of good citizenship. Judged on participation in special entertainment units, church ushers, journalism.

One more flag, the Color Company banner, will mark Tiger Company as the best. This flag is awarded to the top unit at each weekly review.

Comrades, don't forget the Wednesday, October 23, 8 p. m. meeting at the American Legion Hall. We need a good turnout as there is important business to be taken care of.

The quartermaster should have the 1967 dues cards now as they were mailed nearly two weeks ago. Those wishing to do so may pay the 67 dues any time now.

Those who care about our national flag should write the congressman and senator in regards to the mutilating of the flag referring to House Bill 13942. This bill provides for either a one year imprisonment or one year fine or both.

Comrades, let's bring in some new members and try to get this post going like we all hope to do. This can not be done by sitting by. We have to have new members to build our strength and get some new ideas within our ranks. As a post commander I have a few ideas that I am going to work on myself and will try to have a discussion at our November 9th meeting. At this time I would like to see applications for new members. We have a small start toward equipment of our own. We need help to get more.

We are sorry that more people didn't show up for the charter closing and the long form ritual. Comrades, how about more of you trying to help besides just a few of us who have been?

Comrades "Let Show Go for 67". William Hiebee, Post Comm.

BITS O' TALK

On the 26th of September this year U. S. Army PFC Thomas A. Eldridge was promoted to the rank of Specialist 4th Class, while serving on the United States Army vessel Y-487 in the Republic of South Viet Nam. His military MOS is 81C20 (Marine Engineer). He is a 1962 graduate of Gaylord Community High School. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert A. Eldridge, formerly of Gaylord, now reside in Grayling. His address is Sp/4 Thomas A. Eldridge, US55827185, U. S. Army Y-487 c/o SRF Subic Bay, Box 34, FPO San Francisco, Calif. 96350.

Julianne Buron of Chicago enjoyed a ten day vacation with her parents and family, the Tony Burons. While Julie was here the family was called to Port Huron because of the illness of Mrs. Buron's sister, Mrs. Joseph Emerson, who later succumbed. Mrs. Buron, Tim and Jane attended the final rites held in Port Huron. On Sunday evening, October 27th, Mrs. Buron received a call of her son telling of the death of her brother-in-law, Clyde Smith, also of Port Huron. The Buron family expected to attend the service to be held there on Wednesday.

Winter clothes, hunting boots, Episcopal Thrift Shop, 405 Peninsular, Friday, 9 to 4.

Another trip it was to the Hide-out for the three Longdykes. Upon their arrival Friday night they found the cabin as warm as toast.

Gus Middleton had a roaring fire in the fireplace. Saturday was spent hiking through the woods and blazing the trails just enjoying the fall foliage. Says Mrs. L. summer and its pleasures are behind us and another winter must be weathered before another spring will bring another summer, but it will come. The evening was spent in front of the huge fireplace and the air was filled with pungent smoke from the burning logs. Along about midnight came a gentle rustling outside the cabin and with the lighting of the floodlight in the cabin yard were revealed daughter Joanne and Harold Alan; they had made a spur of the moment decision to surprise the folks, however, they appear at such odd times and hours that Mrs. L. is never surprised any more — just as much. Gus Middleton enjoyed many hours with the cabin occupants. The Cabinettes left Sunday, with high hopes of a return north before the trees shed their array of colorful leaves.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. McLane returned to their home in Port Huron after spending the past three weeks at their home on M-72 east. Their son and wife Mr. and Mrs. Jack McLane also of Port Huron, visited them last week.

Floyd Davis was in Traverse City Wednesday for an all-day Bu lova Accutron training class on care of the new timepieces.

Guests of the Lland Smocks on Friday were Mrs. Howard Smock of Mt. Pleasant and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Smock of Shepherd. Week-end guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kelly, Mike, Carol and Kathy of Livonia.

Bob Aschenbrenner met his brother James of Los Angeles, Calif., at Metro airport Wednesday and brought him here for a visit through Sunday.

Pat and Irv Drinkaus spent two days at their lodge on the AuSable main stream, doing some pat hunting.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nixon and sons Eddie and Jimmy of Bluffton, Ind., spent the weekend visiting her father Harvey Hill and sister Lillian helping to celebrate the latter's birthday on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Burch took his mother, Mrs. Marion Burch, back to Fenton with them Sunday to spend this week. They all expected to return this weekend to assist her with work at her home.

THE HALL TREE

By Esther Hall

Mr. and Mrs. Enos Jennings of Hazel Park, and his sisters, Eva Harland of Ferndale and Ruby Beckman of Troy spent the weekend at the Jennings' cabin at Lake Margrethe and visiting relatives.

It isn't just amateurs that get dunked! Enos was fishing alone on Sunday A.M. on the lake (no one in sight anywhere) and about to pull up his anchor—a wave must have rocked the boat—and he pitched overboard, coming up about 15 feet from the boat. He swam to the back end of the boat and managed to get back in without tipping it, since the front end was still anchored. He must have come up smiling because he didn't even lose his hat but realized "what might have been." The day wasn't a total loss as he had gotten a 1 1/2 inch bass earlier.

Tootie Wylie enjoyed a week's vacation from the Merc and a color-trip north. Her son, Tom, Roby is the new clerk at Dad Hanson's.

The weather wasn't very cooperative while the Whitey Somero family was here last week — he didn't do much hunting.

The Al Harland family moved permanently to their Beaver Island home this summer. Dad still works in Wixom and spends most week-ends here at the river. Five of their children are in school here. Their oldest son Gary, now working at the Winter Sports Park, is to report to Vista, in Boston, Mass., in two weeks.

Next month there will be an election of officers and 1967 dues are now due.

After the meeting the Auxiliary met with the Barracks to discuss plans for the District meeting to be held here Sunday, December 4.

SOUND of MUSIC

To all those persons interested in today's Broadway Musical, the following quotation will be of interest. "With apologies to Mr. Bernard Shaw for an unauthorized parody of one of his comedies." So stated all posters and programs in England when the operetta "The Chocolate Soldier" was presented. Mr. Shaw's play "Arms and the Man" provided the foundation for the enchanting and enduring "The Chocolate Soldier" but with the stipulations that the above information be made public at all performances. Most familiar no doubt is the score "My Hero". The operetta is the story of a chocolate eating soldier, who is far more concerned with saving his neck than with valor in the battlefield.

How long has it been since you have listened to a good waltz? It will be up today's parents to keep this melodic music alive. Introduce your children to the beautiful Strauss Waltzes a hundred years old, and to the invigorating and intoxicating rhythm of the Chopin Waltzes. Both, music for listening, studying or ironing.

Carol Channing can also tell stories for your very young children - treat them to her interpretation of "Madeline" with the "Twelve Little Girls in Two Straight Lines" and their adventures in Paris.

These records are available at the Crawford County Library.

WHAT CAN STUDENTS EXPECT -- AND NOT EXPECT OF THE COUNSELING PROGRAM

By Robert Bovee

Students can expect attention to all of the following factors:

(1) that in every contact they will experience acceptance as a person, respect for being. This satisfies one dimension of the development of self-respect and self confidence.

(2) that cumulative data on achievements and potentials will be systematically collected and communicated to him. These data flow from the school's records, grading system, testing program, teacher and counselor observations. This information will also be used by the school for grouping, for placement in special classes, and for determining needs for additional progress and services.

(3) that information on alternatives (schools, majors, courses, careers, jobs) will be made available—effectively communicated, even suggested at critical periods of decision-making.

(4) that informed and skillful assistance will be provided in:

(a) developing awareness of a range of alternatives; (b) assessing success probabilities for aspirational goals; (c) encouraging purposeful though tentative planning in terms of broad fields of interest; aptitude;

(d) in planning an educational program which makes full use of the resources of all relevant educational agencies.

(5) that assistance will be given on a permissive and voluntary basis in dealing with problems of a personal nature. This assistance will involve:

(a) individual attention
(b) confidential consideration
(c) knowledge of the norm
(d) direct effort to "think with the client on his problems"

(e) referral to all school resources.

(f) referral to other agencies

(6) informed and expert assistance will be given in making application to senior college, special program, or job.

Students can not expect:

(1) that the school guidance program will force him to change (example - make him study)

(2) that all students will succeed in all things

(3) diagnosis and treatment of non-school related problems.

(4) marked changes in motivation to learn other than in specific circumstances and to modest degrees.

(5) direct and successful teaching of values different from those held in school and neighborhood.

Before you move in know the facts about insurance

Fact 1: Fire insurance alone on home and contents is not enough. Your home could be destroyed by windstorm, explosion or other hazard.

Fact 2: Theft coverage of your possessions, at home and away, should be included.

Fact 3: A lawsuit judgment against you could cost you everything you own. You need liability insurance.

Fact 4: You get all this and more in one Homeowners policy... with one low premium!

Mrs. Jim Mariage of Rapid City returned home last weekend after visiting her daughter and family the Don Bartholomews for a couple of weeks.

Janet Southwell and Karen Kellogg are the two new young ladies on the morning shift at the Grayling Restaurant.

Charles Morley and Mrs. Josephine McReurto left Tuesday to spend the winter months in Hawaii.

OUR APOLOGIES

The gremlins have been rampant of late. Our apologies are due to Mrs. Hazel Vallad of Tampa, Florida, whose name was omitted from the list of survivors of her son, the late Sherman Vallad, in last week's Avalanche.

Also, apologies to Mrs. Fedora Rasmussen, who gave us a news item concerning Miss Laura Rasmussen of Van Nuys, California, who spent two weeks here visiting her mother in September, and was given several side trips by relatives and friends while here. Laura brought with her to West Branch Miss Coletta Smith, who is now making her home with her sister Mrs. Frank Tetu there. Somehow the item got lost. Miss Denae McEvers is due an apology too, as her name was omitted as one of the group accompanying her grandmother, Mrs. Harry McEvers, on a recent trip to Canada.
